

Conceptual Development: Illinois Holocaust Museum and Educational Center

Written by Michael Berenbaum

Monday, 29 November 2010 09:56 - Last Updated Saturday, 04 December 2010 10:02

The power of the Illinois Holocaust Museum & Education Center is its ability to present the history of the Holocaust in ways that enable visitors to relate this experience to his or her own life today - the values we hold dear, the moral choices we each confront, and recognizing that each of us has the power to stand up to bigotry.

Through its core exhibition and a wide array of public programs, the new Museum has become a cherished destination for learning and reflection, as well as a foundation for advancing inter group understanding in our community.

Learn more about all of the exhibitions in the Illinois Holocaust Museum & Education Center